

CDCI Research is Canada's largest historical research management and litigation support company. Founded in 1998, we are a privately owned Canadian company with secret-level facilities in both Vancouver and Ottawa. From archival research projects to complex litigation cases, we provide a full spectrum of innovative, efficient and value-added research and records management services to public and private sector clients across Canada.

Corporate History

From hospitals to church organizations; from small single proprietorship business to larger multi-national corporations; from a local bakery to large construction firms; from community organizations to international NGOs - all organizations can benefit from a well-crafted history.

An organizational history can help build your brand by conveying your group's unique identity and corporate longevity. Additionally, it can help an organization with recruitment, training and boost employee loyalty and dedication.

CDCI Research Inc recognises the importance of creating and preserving the history of institutions and organisations. Corporate memory is a vital part in the successful operation of an organisation, showing where it has been so that it can move forward. IT is also an important component of building corporate pride and brand recognition. Successful companies, organizations and groups around the world are recognizing their past achievements through public and private commemorations.

Commemorate your team's hard work

Our staff of experienced historians can assist companies or organisations in the preservation and presentation of their history. Utilizing a variety of sources, including , publically available document, contextualizing information (news stories, magazine articles, etc.) company archives and interviews with employees, past and present, we can help create a detailed and visually appealing history that helps pay tribute to your achievements.

Services Offered

- Commemorative Research
- Corporate Archives Digitization
- Organizational Histories
- Institution Research
- Contextual Research
- Legacy Papers
- Corporate Memory Interviews

Institutional Research

Legacy Papers

As internal documents, legacy papers, highlight the changes in administration, organisation, and company dynamics over a long period. They provide the company with a record of its operations. This corporate memory gives the client the means to understand in a longer time frame the acts, successes and failures of the company or organisation. It also assists in the gaps of knowledge created by changes in staff over time.

Corporate Histories

Is your company or organisation celebrating a historical milestone or an anniversary? CDCI Research provides its clients with carefully researched and written histories of your organisation to honour its achievements and celebrate its past. Corporate histories have more practical applications as well. As a marketing tool, corporate histories provide evidence of longevity, sustainability, and investment in the future. Our written histories can be adapted to different media, to be used for promotional material.

Corporate Archiving

In the day-to-day struggle of running a business often old records of importance take second priority to the pressing issues of the day. Stored in bankers' boxes, left forgotten on floppy disks, and houses at the back of storage units, the promotional, organizational, and descriptive records of a company often are lost to neglect. At CDCI Research we can help your company maintain a record of its past for the future. With digital storage solutions and expert coding experience we can take your collection and ensure it is usable, now and in the future.

200-541 Howe Street
Vancouver, British Columbia
V6C 2C2

T. 604 633 1849
F. 604 633 0975

300 -246 Queen Street
Ottawa, Ontario
K1P 5E4

T. 613 234 1849
F. 613 234 0123

www.cdci.ca

Follow us on Twitter!
@CDCIResearch